About Ha'oom Society

The Ha'oom Fisheries Society works cooperatively to support and facilitate the participation of the Ahousaht, Ehattesaht, Mowachaht/Muchalaht, Hesquiaht and Tla-o-qui-aht First Nations (the “Five Nations”) in the implementation of their commercial right-based fishery. This includes implementing fisheries for the Five Nations based on their inherent and constitutionally-protected aboriginal right to harvest and sell fish; enhance the capacity and role of the Five Nations in the management and sustainability of fisheries, in collaboration with the Fisheries and Oceans Canada where appropriate; support and incorporate traditional authority and knowledge of the Nations and leadership in relation to fisheries resources in management of fisheries; support the Five Nations’ fishing culture and prosperous fishing communities through support for and cultivation of other opportunities related to fishing, harvesting, fisheries habitat and resource maintenance and restoration, managing, monitoring, marketing and/or processing of fisheries resources; and uphold the Nuu-chah-nulth principles of hishuk ish tsa’walk (everything is connected, everything is one) and isaak (respect) in the approach to managing opportunities and fisheries for the Five Nations.

About the Role

The Finance Manager is an exciting role within the Ha'oom Fisheries Society. Reporting to the Executive Director, the Finance Manager is responsible for directing, overseeing and managing financial, administrative and advisory services for Ha'oom Fisheries Society. The work requires strategic direction, leadership and innovation, and supports the enhancement and fiscal accountability related to the Nation’s rights-based commercial fisheries program. The Finance Manager will help shape our emerging organization, lead the financial administration of the fisheries program, and act as an architect in the development of the Ha'oom Fisheries Society’s business development, including the future development of a financial trust and/or future corporate entity.
